SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Officer were very busy on the first day of our work week. The shift started out by the team attending a range qualification, and afterwards they quickly started to handle calls for service. During the shift, officers responded to a fight between a husband and wife. The issue started because they had been drinking at a party. The wife swung a fishing lure/hook at her husband, causing him to get a small laceration. She was arrested and taken to jail. Officers also made several warrant arrests that were discovered during traffic stops and suspicious people stops.
