SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Today was the last shift for our teams work week. Calls for service were on the low side, this allowed for officers to complete investigations they acquired over their very busy work week. Officers responded to the 500 block of East Springer for the report of a disturbance.

Through the investigation it was determined, one of the resident's ex-boyfriend came to their house and began causing a disturbance. While there the subject vandalized the door and fled prior to police arrival. This is an on-going investigation.

Steady shift with it raining off and on throughout the night while officers responded to several calls for service. Due to it being the last day of this work week, Officers spent time in between calls completing assigned investigations.
